Initial Interest in ISO/IEC 27001:2013 Information Security Management System

Are you concerned about your organisation's information security?

If you believe that information security is, or could be, critical to your organisation, implementing the only accredited international standard for information security management systems, is a practical solution. Here are a few short questions that will give us an outline view of your current situation.

If you have already started the process and want an assessment of your current system, please complete our alternative self-assessment questionnaire.

All information provided will be treated as confidential and will not be passed on to any other parties.

Name:

Organisation:

Contact Number:

Please tick the check boxes to confirm a Yes response or leave blank for a No response

What are the key drivers leading the organisation towards an Information Security Management System?

Is top management committed to achieving ISO 27001:2013?

Has the organisation considered and determined its attitude towards information security risk?

Do you have an established risk assessment process?

Does the organisation have an accredited Quality Management System to ISO 9001:2008?

Is the organisation accredited to Investors in People?

Would you like us to conduct a Gap Analysis, so that we can establish all the steps necessary to achieve accreditation?